

HTTP 200 / RESTORED

I AM 404

Mr. Brok3n / Lyrics by Eric Wright

SINGLE

OCT 15, 2025

VERSE 1

I was the line that never fit,
 A spark that died before it lit.
 Echoes rose from a hollow sky,
 I begged for light but didn't know why.
 I tore my name from what I'd been,
 But mercy carved it back within.

CHORUS

You called me up from the static sound,
 Pulled me from silence, tore the walls down.
 I was lost in the noise, now I burn with cause,
 A shattered soul rebuilt by Your laws.
 You took my ruin, forged my core —
 I'm not missing anymore.

VERSE 2

I chased the ghosts I used to be,
 Through empty halls of memory.
 My hands were ash, my eyes were stone,
 Still You called me as Your own.
 You breathed through cracks, restored the flame,
 And turned my wreckage into praise.

CHORUS

You called me up from the static sound,
 Pulled me from silence, tore the walls down.
 I was lost in the noise, now I burn with cause,
 A shattered soul rebuilt by Your laws.
 You took my ruin, forged my core —
 I'm not missing anymore.

INSTRUMENTAL BREAKBRIDGE

Bit by bit, You break the chains,
 Through holy fire and sacred pain.
 I am the flaw You chose to mend,
 The broken You refused to end.
 The night still flickers, but I still stand,
 Remade by the hands that hold it all.

CHORUS

I'm the error He turned into glory.
 I'm the broken He made more.