Mr. Brok3n / Lyrics by Eric Wright

SINGLE

VERSE 1

I've been chasing the quiet between the storms
 (But I can't find home)
 I talk to God in the dark
 And He shows me her silhouette
 A light that cuts through the noise
 A voice I haven't met yet

[Pre-

CHORUS

] She isn't made of flesh alone
 (She's faith wrapped in breath)
 When I reach for peace
 It sounds like her name

CHORUS

She is my lighthouse
 My calm in the current
 She pulls me toward the shore
 Without ever touching me
 She is my home
 And I haven't met her yet

I see her smile in the static
 (It breaks me open every time)
 She laughs like forgiveness
 She plans a life we haven't lived
 A house made of prayer
 And hands that build instead of break

BRIDGE

When she's afraid
 I'll quiet the wind with touch
 When I fall apart
 She'll lift me up to grace
 Her eyes will say we're alright
 Before her mouth ever moves

GUITAR SOLO

CHORUS

She is my lighthouse
 My calm in the current
 She pulls me toward the shore
 Without ever touching me
 She is my home
 And I haven't met her yet

OUTRO

I will lay my head against her heart
 (And know I made it)
 Her fingers in my hair
 Will sound like mercy
 Two souls stitched by the same breath
 Serving the same God
 Until the stars forget to burn
